

Schultüte

When children in Germany set off for their first day of school upon entering first grade, their parents and/or grandparents present them with a large Schultüte, an attractively decorated cone filled with toys, school supplies, chocolate, sweets and other special treats. The cone is given to children to make this anxiously awaited first day of school a little sweeter.

Parents can make a Schultüte themselves or they can purchase them pre-made. Here are some examples:

